ABOUT THE AUTHORS

IRENE ASHTON DAVIES BEAZLEY was born in Warkworth, New Zealand, and spent the past fifty years gaining knowledge in genealogical research. She became an Accredited Genealogist^{CM} with the International Commission for the Accreditation of Professional Genealogists (ICAPGenSM) in 1967. She was brought up on a farm north of Auckland, New Zealand, and became interested in Maori research when she married Gordon Ponga Kingi Davies. She has six children, twenty-seven grandchildren, and twenty-three great-grandchildren. After her husband passed away in 1998 she married Samuel Beazley. She now lives in Hamilton, New Zealand.

GARY MOKOTOFF is the first person to receive the Lifetime Achievement Award of the International Association of Jewish Genealogical Societies. He is the author of a number of books including the award-winning Where Once We Walked (a gazetteer of more than 23,000 towns where Jews lived before the Holocaust); How to Document Victims and Locate Survivors of the Holocaust; and Getting Started in Jewish Genealogy. He is co-owner of Avotaynu, a publishing company that focuses on books of interest to persons tracing their Jewish family history. In 2004, the company received the “Body of Work” award of the Association of Jewish Libraries. He is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the Federation of Genealogical Societies and Association of Professional Genealogists.

MARY B. RUVANE is a PhD student in the School of Information and Library Science at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. She received her MSIS from the same school in the Spring of 2002. She has taught a graduate course in Geographic Information Systems as a teaching fellow with UNC. Her home Web page can be found at <http://www.unc.edu/~ruvane/MBR/homepage.html>.

MARLO E. SCHULDT received his BS and MS degrees from Brigham Young University. He is very active in helping individuals with speech/language disorders. Marlo is currently president of LifeStory Productions, Inc., a Utah-based company specializing in the development of database management software. He also provides assistance to individuals desiring to gather, prepare, print, and share family history. He has received presentation awards from the Utah Federation Council of Exceptional Children and University of Texas Pan American. He authored and received one of the first artificial intelligence/expert information management system software patents in the state of Utah.
