EDITORIAL

I am most pleased to conclude my service as the Editor of the AMCAP Journal with this Index for all of the previous issues of the Journal. I hope that with these Author, Chronological, and Subject indexes you will not only be able to find any article you may wish but also will make much greater use of past Journal issues and find them much more valuable to you. I suggest that you take time now or soon to browse through this issue to note the wealth of subjects discussed the past 11 years in the Journal. It has been an enlightening experience for me to prepare these indexes and in the process to have my mind refreshed with the gems in the Journal.

My special thanks to all of you who have authored articles, to those who have reviewed articles, and to those who have aided in the publication process. Of course, without you we would not have been able to have a journal, especially of the quality that it is. It has been a great privilege to serve with and for you. Thank you for the opportunity.

May our Journal continue to go forward to new and greater heights. God be with each of you who contribute to the growth and developments of the AMCAP Journal and to our AMCAP organization.

With Love and Respect,

Burton C. Kelly
Editor
