Farrer Elementary School

- Title 1 School
- 366 K-6 Students
 - 61% Hispanic
 - 37% Caucasian
 - 2% Other
 - 88% SES
 - 53% ELL
- 21 Teachers, 2 Interns, & 3 student teachers

Why a PDS partnership?

Farrer

- Help meet AYP goals
- Build a stronger connection to the local university for faculty and students
- Further professional development of faculty

BYU

- Public School Partnership Site
- Practical experience for students
- Faculty research interests
- Collaborative grant writing

Laying a foundation

- Building relationships
- Creating a steering committee
- Attending 2010 PDS Conference
- Developing PDS vision statement
- Ensuring faculty buy-in

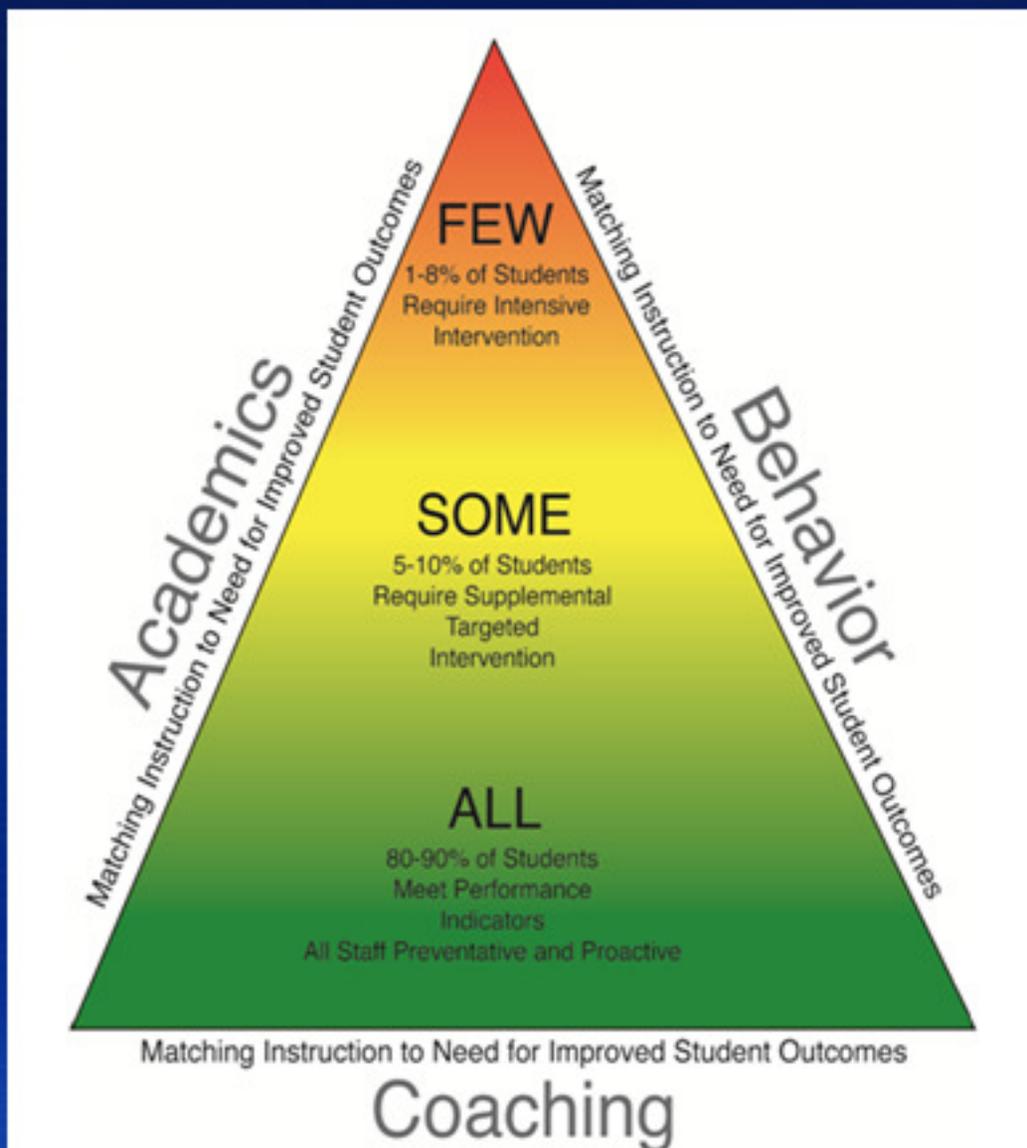

Nine Elements of a PDS

1. Comprehensive mission
2. Preparation of future educators
3. Needs-based professional development
4. Commitment to evidence-based practices
5. Investigation of practices & sharing of results
6. Commitment to parent involvement
7. Shared governance & collaboration
8. Work by faculty across settings
9. Shared resources

Together we've . . .

- Agreed to create a professional development school partnership
- Implemented an executive committee for shared governance
- Reached 94% staff agreement to participate
- Committed to evidence-based practices and began implementing
- Designed a school-wide database for academic and behavioral data
- Conducted weekly parent involvement meetings
- Created a university credit option for teachers
- Implemented school-wide Positive Behavior Support
- Followed up on top rated behavior need with “following directions” training
- BYU students participating to support programs and gain school experience
- Created opportunities for arts experiences
- Shared resources, e.g., financial, staff, professional conferences
- Secured grant funding

Positive Behavior Support (PBS)

Broad range of systemic and individualized strategies for achieving important social and learning outcomes while preventing problem behavior with all students

(Sugai, 2004)

Response to Intervention (RTI)

Method of early, effective academic interventions designed to help students with learning difficulties

Common Elements of PBS and RTI

- Leadership Team
- School-wide Screening
- High Expectations
- Skill Building
- Rewards and Recognition System
- Implementation Fidelity
- Tiered Intervention
- Evidence-based practices
- Data-based Decision Making

Elements of Effective Instruction

Data-Based Decision Making

1. Positive Relationships
2. Rewards & Recognition
3. Clear Expectations
4. Skill Building

Training Model

- Professional Learning Communities (PLCs)
- Training
- Coaching

1. Positive Relationships

- Learning takes place best in a pleasant environment
- Positive interactions should outweigh negative interactions
- Require constant effort
- Foundation for success
- Praise is a powerful way to build relationships

Praise

General

Verbal or written statements indicating approval

Examples:

“Super!” “Good job!” “Great!”

Specific

Verbal or written statements that:

- Specify the person or group
- Describe the behavior being praised

Example:

“Jordan, good job staying in the lines. Your penmanship looks great!”

2. Rewards and Recognition

Purpose:

To increase specific praise to students.

Benefits:

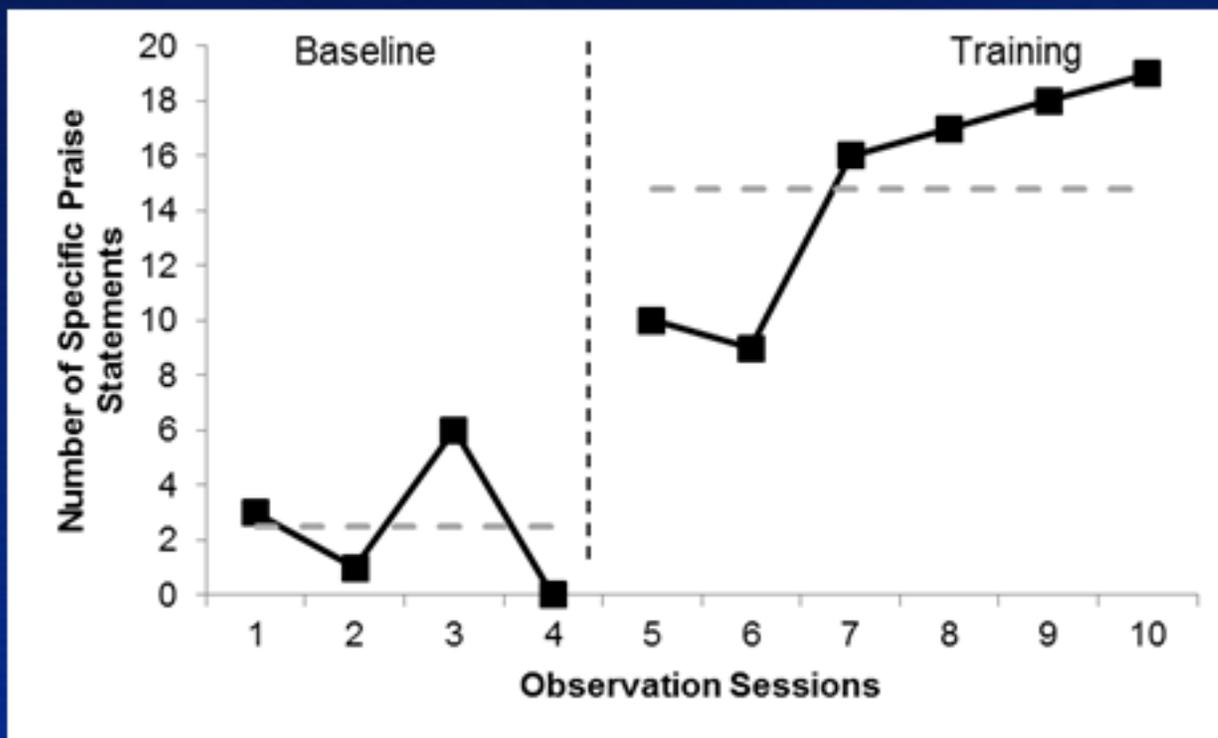

Improved academic and social behavior

Strengthened relationships with students and parents

3. Clear Expectations

Definition:

Explaining and demonstrating what you want students to know and do.

Benefits:

- Students know exactly what you want them to do.
- Students tend to live up to expectations.
- Students are less likely to misbehave.
- Students know you believe them capable of achieving.

School-wide Expectations

- Restroom
- Hallway
- Assembly
- Lunchroom
- Playground

Farrer Elementary Restroom Rules

1. Respect privacy of others

2. Use quiet voices

3. Go/Flush/Wash

4. One squirt, two towels

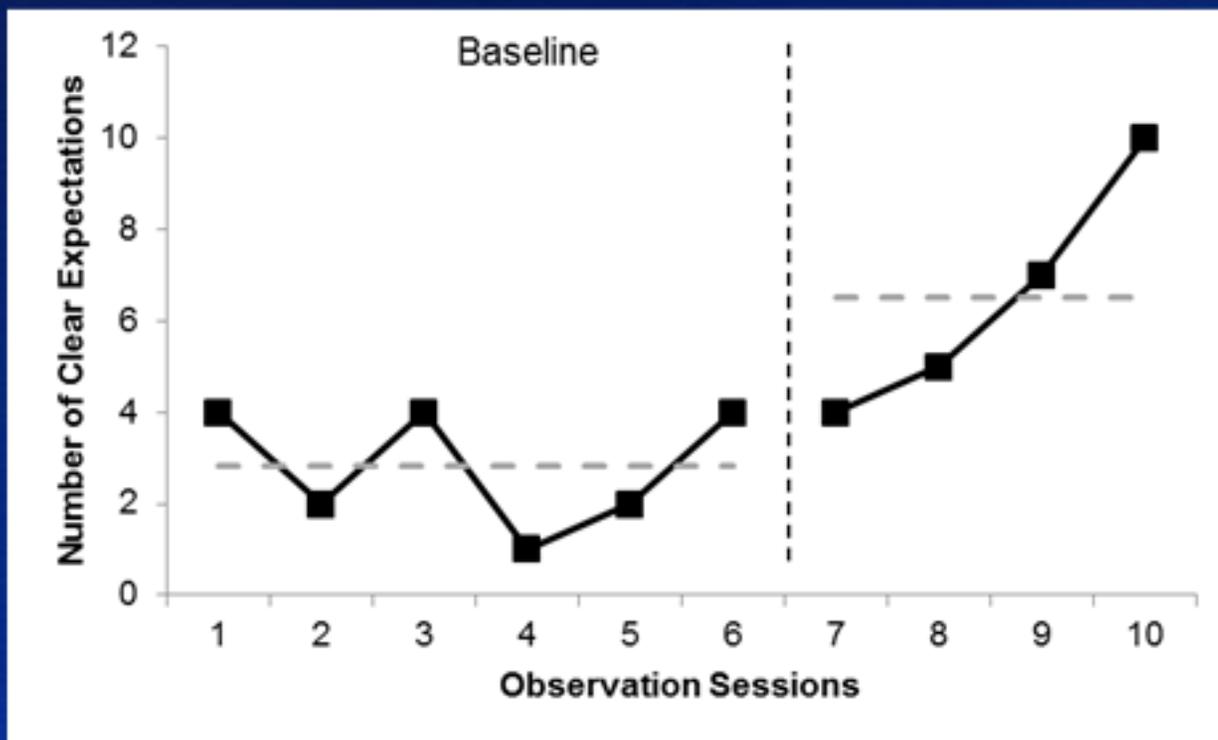

5. Leave it clean

6. Report problems to a teacher

4. Skill Building

Opportunities to Respond

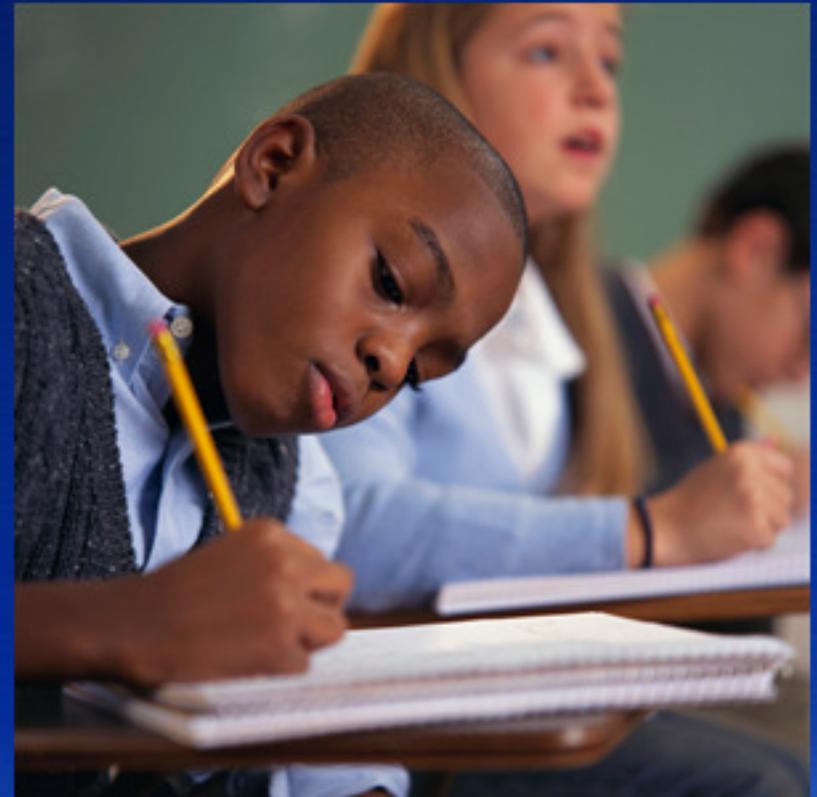

Definition:

The interaction between a teacher's questioning, prompting, or cueing and an observable student or group response.

Purpose:

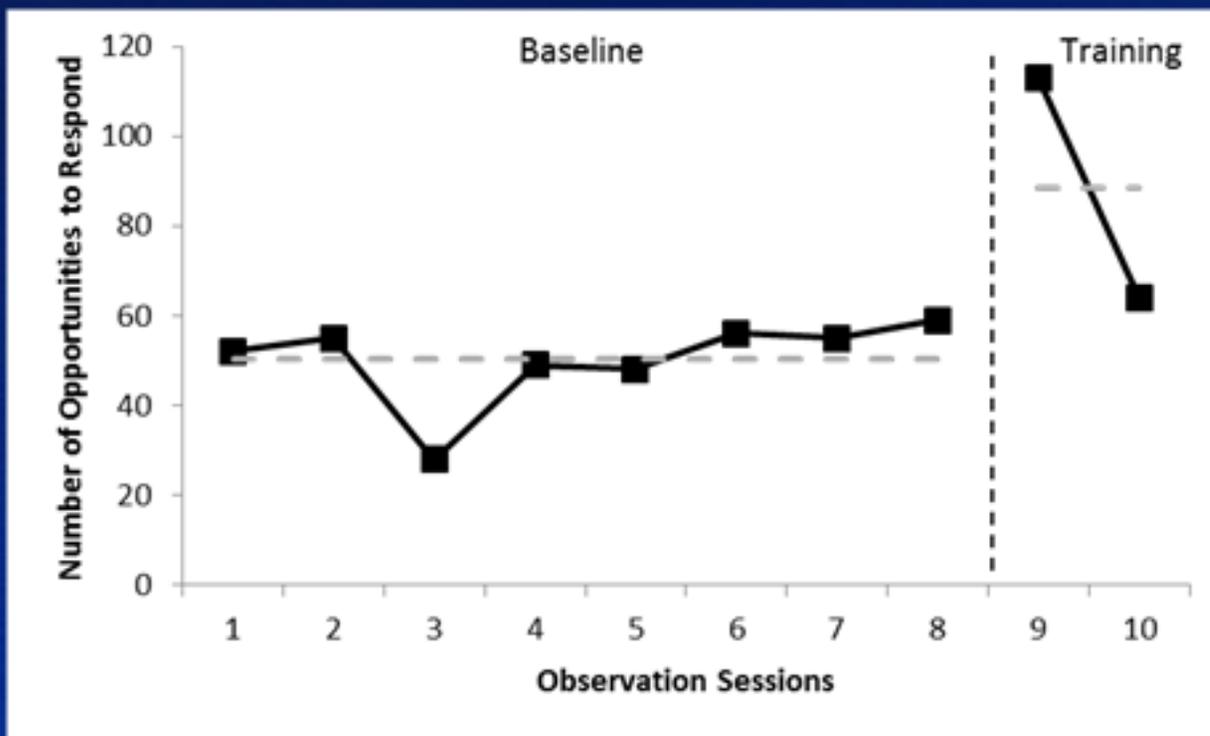

To increase the number of correct responses and the amount of time students are engaged during instruction.

(Haydon, Mancil, & Van Loan, 2009)

4. Skill Building

Teacher Does . . .	Looks Like . . .
1. Teaching New Content The teacher teaches new content by demonstrating or modeling the correct response.	The students are observing while the teacher explains, models and demonstrates. The students do not respond. During instruction the teacher observes whether students are ready for guided practice.
2. Guided Practice The teacher provides support and feedback continuing until there is evidence that the student is ready to practice independently.	Teachers give students many opportunities to respond allowing students to practice the new skill. Students gain competence as the teacher provides encouragement and corrective feedback.
3. Independent Practice The teacher provides additional practice without guidance or feedback, continuing to check student work to ensure mastery.	Students respond independently until the skill becomes fluent or automatic.
