Review

While reading about animals in her books, a little girl with an avid imagination thinks of every silly possible way she could have a unique zoo of her own. She thinks up animals doing all sorts of funny things like cooking, reading, and dancing. Then things start to get a little crazy with the animals a little out of control. The little girl then has to get involved and clean up this mess she has made. This adventure in her imagination is so exhausting she decided not to do it again, then of course, she thinks up another idea!

With rhyming text, this book is full of silly imaginative ideas about animals. The illustrations are colorful and busy with lots of different animals pictured. Any child with an imagination and a sense of humor will love laughing while reading this book.
