Dietitian Work Family Data

Data collected by Emily Patten (faculty member) and Karla Williams (graduate student)

This data set contains information about Registered Dietitian Nutritionists and their experience with caregiving, work-family conflict, work-family enrichment, and other work- and family-related characteristics. Data was collected electronically in April 2018 through a national survey. Items that are not relevant to the papers being published were removed, especially open-ended responses which could contribute to deductive disclosure.
