Intuition: BYU Undergraduate Journal of Psychology is published annually during the Fall Semester by the Brigham Young University Psychology Department.

Intuition is managed, edited, and designed by undergraduate students enrolled at Brigham Young University. Individuals who are interested in joining the staff are encouraged to contact the Editor-in-Chief at byupsychjournal@gmail.com. Class credit is available for staff members. Individuals interested in submitting articles to be considered for publication should read the submission guidelines located on the last page of the current issue.

Articles and other content in this issue do not necessarily represent the views or opinions of Brigham Young University, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, or Intuition editors. Any comments should be directed to the Editor-in-Chief, 1001 SWKT, BYU, Provo, UT, 84602, or e-mail: byupsychjournal@gmail.com.

Intuition would especially like to thank Julianne Holt-Lunstad for her guidance in developing this journal. The efforts of Mel Thorne, Linda Hunter Adams, and the Psychology Department faculty members who generously provided reviews are likewise appreciated.

From the Editor

Paige N. Vella

Intuition has come a very long way this past year. We have spent a lot of free time reorganizing the way the journal is run. Our hopes are that this reorganization will make the journal much more efficient for working with our authors and editors (both faculty and student alike). We also hope that with this newfound efficiency that we will be able to start producing two issues of the journal per year. As such, I would like to give a special thanks to my Co-Editor Rebecca Wallace who donated a large portion of her time and creativity to help with the reorganization of the journal.

I would like to recognize the two new Editors-in-Chief, Alixandra Lewis and Samuel Purdy, who have taken over the journal. These two have been creative and exemplary, and I believe they will be very successful in pushing the journal to be far better and more competitive than ever before. Furthermore, thanks to all of the other student editors who donated so much of their time to help review the many submission we received.

I would also like to thank all the authors for being patient and working so hard with us so that we were able to publish their work.

Thanks to the faculty members who took time out of their busy schedules to help as reviewers for the articles, and assisted us in narrowing down the submissions we received so that we could publish the very best of the articles we received.

Finally, I would like to give a special thanks to Dr. Julianne Holt-Lunstad, who is the faculty advisor for Intuition. Dr. Holt-Lunstad has been very resourceful to us as we have gradually improved the efficiency of running the journal. She also donated a large portion of her time to reviewing articles.

We hope that you enjoy reading this issue of Intuition, and we encourage all students to submit their best work for future issues!

Sincerely,

Paige N. Vella
