

Dear MPHS members and friends,

History continues to be made each year as wards and stakes divide, as church and family crises continue to be faced and overcome, and as the lives of our membership continue to be challenged by social, political and economic conditions.

But the MPHS continues to quietly and effectively record history both modern and ancient to pass on a legacy of what our lives were like, and projecting hopes for a better future because of our knowledge of the past.

We appreciate so very much the kindness and support of each member. We delight in seeing each of you as we get together each year at our annual conference. We hope that each of you will plan your schedules in such a way that we can all be together this year along with at least one friend who has never been to the conference before.

See you at Waialua on the 19th of March.

Sincerely,

Metlin D. Waite
