The purpose of this Association shall be:

- a) To promote fellowship, foster communication, enhance personal and professional development, and promote a forum for counselors and psychotherapists whose common bond is membership in and adherence to the principles and standards of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, both in their personal lives and professional practice.
- b) To encourage and support members' efforts to actively promote within their other professional organizations and the society at large the adoption and maintenance of moral standards and practices that are consistent with gospel principles.

Article 1, Section 2, AMCAP by-laws (as amended Sept. 30, 1981).

AMCAP supports the principles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints; however, it is an independent, professional organization which is not sponsored by, nor does it speak for the Church or its leaders.

EDITORIAL

We trust that you will find this an exciting issue. The planned theme of this issue was "Principles of Therapeutic Change." While only two of the articles address this issue directly, those of Brothers Allred and Westover, many of them address it indirectly. Others are really aimed at different issues. There is a wide variety of articles which we hope will tap at least some of the interests of each of you.

Please send us your comments, inquiries, or rejoinders to any of these articles. We would be most happy to hear from you. You will note that Brother Koltko's article in this issue is such a rejoinder.

To whet your appetite, the next issue, which we hope you will be receiving soon after this one, is an index to all of the previous AMCAP Journals. We think that you will find this an invaluable issue.

As always, we invite your submission of manuscripts and enlist your encouragement of manuscripts from others.

Thanks to each of the authors, who have given of their time, talents, and energy to bless our lives.

Burton C. Kelly, Editor
