Joseph Smith, the Prophet and Seer

With presentations from the foremost educators and scholars, these messages provide fresh, current, and faithful perspectives and will give helpful context for the study of Joseph Smith's teachings. Each presenter is either on the Religious Education faculty at BYU or is part of the team preparing the landmark Joseph Smith Papers series.

Each of the lectures focuses on the years from 1830–1844, providing an overview of the major events in Church history for that year and then discussing a major doctrinal or historical topic tied to that time period. This exciting and thorough treatment will lift people's understanding of the Prophet Joseph and the gospel to new heights.

Speakers in the series include Richard Neitzel Holzapfel, Richard E. Bennett, Kent P. Jackson, Robert J. Woodford, Grant Underwood, Alexander L. Baugh, J. Spencer Fluhman, Steven C. Harper, Ronald K. Esplin, William G. Hartley, Ronald O. Barney, Andrew H. Hedges, and Robert L. Millet.

Joseph and Hyrum—Leading as One

Joseph and Hyrum Smith exemplified leadership as they worked together organizing and operating the Church, teaching, speaking, and building temples and towns. As leaders, they held firm to their convictions, roused the hearts and minds of men and women in varied walks of life, and left legacies sufficient to stamp them as two of the most remarkable and influential men of the nineteenth century. Their stories and examples of shared leadership illustrate how they honored agency and exerted righteous influence, grew through adversity, forged bonds of obligation and love, governed conflict, and organized through councils. These principles can help us create more edifying leadership in our homes, our Church service, and our professional lives.

In Harm's Way: East German Latter-day Saints during World War II

These are the compelling accounts of thousands of members of the Church in East Germany who found themselves in a precarious situation during World War II. They were compelled to live under the tyranny of Nazi Germany and participate in offensive and defensive military actions. The story of how they lived and died under those conditions has never before been told. This volume brings together the accounts of hundreds of Church members who survived the war—preserved in hundreds of personal interviews, journals, letters, and photographs. Their stories of joy and suffering are presented in this book against the background of the rise and collapse of the Third Reich. Readers will be amazed at the faith and dedication demonstrated by these Saints, young and old, military and civilian.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ in the Old Testament: The 38th Annual Sidney B. Sperry Symposium

We cannot be true students of the Book of Mormon or Doctrine and Covenants without also being students of the Old Testament, for Jesus declared that the Old Testament scriptures “are they which testify of me” (John 5:39). Often students of the gospel fail to see the Old Testament as a witness of Christ and his gospel. Yet this book of scripture serves as the First Testament of Jesus Christ. The frequent quotations and allusions to the Old Testament by later scripture writers in the New Testament and Book of Mormon certainly demonstrate its applicability to their understanding of the gospel and the plan of our Heavenly Father.

John Taylor: The Champion of Liberty

This book, John Taylor: Champion of Liberty, is a compilation of selected presentations from the annual BYU Church History Symposium, hosted by BYU Religious Education. The purpose of this book is to remember the great legacy of John Taylor. The Prophet Joseph Smith told John Taylor, “Elder Taylor you have received the Holy Spirit and if you heed promptings of the same it will become within you a Fountain of Continuous Revelation from God.” President Taylor’s words, as presented in this volume, will become a continuous fountain of revelation for its readers. On the flyleaf of the Improvement Era, John Taylor wrote, “What you young people want is a book that can be bound and kept with something in it worth keeping.” Certainly the essays about the life and teachings of John Taylor bound in this volume are worth keeping.

Oliver Cowdery: Days Never to Be Forgotten

This book is a compilation of selected presentations from the annual BYU Church History Symposium hosted by BYU Religious Education. Oliver Cowdery was a primary character in the early days of the Church, both before and after its organization. The events he was involved with are significant to the history of the Church. This book explores his life and the many important roles he filled.

He was the principal scribe for the Book of Mormon, and he witnessed the heavens opened and the gospel of Jesus Christ restored. As Oliver himself described, “These were days never to be forgotten—to sit under the sound of a voice dictated by the inspiration of heaven, awakened the utmost gratitude of this bosom!”

To Save the Lost: An Easter Celebration

Easter is a good time to recall Jesus' mission to the least, the last, and the lost, for he said, "The Son of man is come to save that which was lost." Not surprisingly, we discover that he sent his disciples to the "lost sheep," and thus their mission of finding the lost is a natural extension of his mission. Some of Jesus' most memorable teaching moments have to do with finding the lost. This volume contains the papers delivered at the 2008 and 2009 Brigham Young University Easter Conferences, which is a celebration of the life and atoning mission of Jesus Christ. We are honored to include articles from Elder Merrill J. Bateman, an emeritus member of the Seventy, and Bonnie D. Parkin, former general Relief Society president.

might find sweetness therein and see wondrous things to our understanding and establish godly conduct.

Editorial Board Member

Nelson Boren and his wife, Jeanne, live in Sandpoint, Idaho. After graduating from Arizona State University with a degree in architecture, he went into private practice in Salt Lake City and Mesa, Arizona. Following his fifteen years of architectural practice, community service, urban sprawl, and trying to keep seven children busy on a fifth of an acre in Mesa, Arizona, Nelson and Jeanne moved their family to a small farm in northern Idaho where he pursued a fine art career as a cowboy artist and raised cows, chickens, sheep, and children. In 2003 Nelson went from serving as stake president to presiding over the New York New York North Mission. After three years of living there, surviving the traffic, working with incredible young and senior missionaries from all over the world, and loving the people of New York, the Borens moved back to their little farm in Sandpoint, where Nelson now serves as bishop, takes the young men in his ward hiking and fishing, and enjoys his grandchildren and the peace and quiet of the country.

Student Editorial Intern

Rosalind Elizabeth Ricks grew up in a small town in the high deserts of California, the sixth of seven children in a wonderful family. She was a pretty normal kid: she preferred ice cream to green beans and playing outside to cleaning her room. One by one, each of her siblings left home to go to BYU, and eventually she graduated from high school and followed them there. She loves many things about BYU but particularly enjoys her language classes. Since coming to BYU, she has taken classes in Welsh, Swedish, Italian, and Hindi, in addition to singing in a German choir. One summer she did a study abroad to Wales to continue learning Welsh. She is currently a senior majoring in English with a minor in editing. She started working for the RSC in November 2008 as a student editor, and she loves both where she works and what she does there. Her hobbies include reading children's books, watching Hindi and Telugu movies, and spending time with her family.

Student Editorial Intern

Dayna K. Thomas is a senior from Centerville, Utah. After briefly studying chemistry at BYU, she switched her focus to pursue a major in English with minors in Spanish and editing. Dayna has edited for Inscape and was a production lead editor for the BYU Prelaw Review. She has been editing and preparing various projects for publication at the RSC since March 2009. She loves hiking, and her favorite place to be is in Utah's beautiful mountains. After Dayna graduates in April, she plans to attend law school.

Submission Guidelines

The Religious Educator serves the needs and interests of those who study and teach the restored gospel of Jesus Christ on a regular basis. The distinct focuses are on teaching the gospel; publishing studies on scripture, doctrine, and Church history; and sharing outstanding devotional essays. The contributions to each issue are carefully reviewed and edited by experienced teachers, writers, and scholars. The beliefs of the respective authors are their own and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Religious Studies Center, Brigham Young University, or The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Complete author guidelines, including suitable topics, are provided at tre.byu.edu. All manuscripts should be submitted electronically to rsc@byu.edu. Hard-copy submissions are accepted but not encouraged. Send hard-copy submissions to the editorial office at the address listed below.

Manuscripts must be word processed in double-spaced format, including quotations. A minimum of embedded word-processing commands should be used. Authors should follow style conventions of the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition, and the Style Guide for Publications of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 3rd edition, as reflected in a recent issue of the Religious Educator.

Those manuscripts that meet all criteria and appear to fill current needs will be peer reviewed and will receive a friendly, but careful, review. Authors will then be notified of the decision about publication. This process generally takes four to six months, and publication will generally occur within a year after acceptance has been received.

If an article is accepted, authors will be notified and asked to provide photocopies of all source materials cited, arranged in order, numbered to coincide with endnotes, and highlighted to reflect the quotations or paraphrases. Photocopies of source material must include title page and source page with the used quotations highlighted.
