TO OUR READERS

Under the name of the Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies (FARMS), the Institute for the Study and Preservation of Ancient Religious Texts (Institute) supports study and research on the Book of Mormon, the Book of Abraham, the Old Testament, and the New Testament and studies of the early formative period of the Christian tradition, ancient temples, and other related subjects. Under the FARMS imprint, the Institute publishes and distributes titles in these areas for the benefit of scholars and interested Latter-day Saint readers. Primary FARMS research interests include the history, language, literature, culture, geography, politics, and law relevant to ancient scripture. Although such subjects are of secondary importance when compared with the spiritual and eternal messages of scripture, solid research and academic perspectives can supply certain kinds of useful information, even if only tentatively, concerning many significant and interesting questions about scripture.

The Institute makes interim and final reports about this research available widely, promptly, and economically. These publications are peer reviewed to ensure that scholarly standards are met. The proceeds from the sale of these materials are used to support further research and publications. As a service to teachers and students of the scriptures, research results are distributed in both scholarly and popular formats.

The purpose of the FARMS Review is to help serious readers make informed choices and judgments about books published on the Book of Mormon and associated topics, as well as to publish substantial freestanding essays on related matters. We hope, thereby, to encourage reliable scholarship with regard to such subjects.

Reviews and articles are written by invitation. Any person interested in writing for the FARMS Review should first contact the editor. Style guidelines will be sent to the authors. Unsolicited manuscripts are not accepted and will not be returned. A query letter to the editor describing a proposed review must be sent first.

The opinions expressed in these reviews and articles are those of the authors. They do not necessarily represent the opinions of the Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, the Institute for the Study and Preservation of Ancient Religious Texts, its editors, Brigham Young University, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, or the authors' employers. No portion of the reviews or articles may be used in advertising or for any other commercial purpose without the express written permission of the Institute.

The FARMS Review is published semiannually. See the Web site at farms.byu.edu for reviews and articles appearing in the FARMS Review.
