If you compare several representative passages of the greatest poetry you see how great is the variety of types of combination criterion of “sublimity” misses the mark. For it is not the “greatness,” the intensity, of the emotions, the components, but the intensity of the artistic process, the pressure, so to speak, under which the fusion takes place, that counts.

Criterion is published once each year by the BYU Department of English. The contents represent the opinions and beliefs of the authors and not necessarily those of the editors, staff, advisors, Brigham Young University, or its sponsoring institution, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Current students of BYU are invited to submit typed, double-spaced manuscripts to the BYU English Department (4198 JFSB) or the BYU Publications Lab (HBLL Information Commons), or via e-mail at byuliterarycriticism@gmail.com. Any questions or comments may be directed to the above e-mail address.
