No. 58 Spring 2008

Inca Garcilasco’s Comentarios Reales,
or Who Tells the Story of a Conquered Civilization?
Dario Fernandez Morera

Mind, Causation and Chinese Mentality
J. Randall Groves

The Neolithic Demographic Transition, Population
Pressure and Cultural Change
Jean-Pierre Bocquet-Appel

Deadly Conspiracy Myths in History
Laina Farhat-Holzman

When One Civilization is Replaced by Another:
The Case of Czechoslovakia
Marie Homerova

Hegemony vs. Balance of Power Within and Between Civilizations in World History
Matthew Melko

Science and Civilizational Study: A Sand-Clearing Procedure
David Wilkinson

Humor Corner

Book Reviews

ISCSC

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR THE COMPARATIVE STUDY OF CIVILIZATIONS
CONTENTS

Editor’s Note
Joseph Drew .................................................................1

Inca Garcilasco’s Comentarios Reales, or Who Tells the Story of a Conquered Civilization?
Dario Fernández Morera ................................................6

Mind, Causation and Chinese Mentality
J. Randall Groves .........................................................21

The Neolithic Demographic Transition, Population Pressure and Cultural Change
Jean-Pierre Bocquet-Appel ..............................................36

Deadly Conspiracy Myths in History
Laina Farhat-Holzman ..................................................50

When One Civilization is Replaced by Another: The Case of Czechoslovakia
Marie Homerova ..........................................................62

Hegemony vs. Balance of Power Within and Between Civilizations in World History
Matthew Melko .............................................................75

Science and Civilizational Study: A Sand-Clearing Procedure
David Wilkinson ..........................................................90

Humor Corner .............................................................99

Book Reviews ..............................................................102

ISCSC
INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR THE COMPARATIVE STUDY OF CIVILIZATIONS

Published by BYU ScholarsArchive, 2008