

Religious Educator: Perspectives on the Restored Gospel

Volume 16 | Number 3

Article 1

10-2015

Front Matter

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/re>

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

"Front Matter." Religious Educator: Perspectives on the Restored Gospel 16, no. 3 (2015).
<https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/re/vol16/iss3/1>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Religious Educator: Perspectives on the Restored Gospel by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATOR

PERSPECTIVES ON THE RESTORED GOSPEL

RELIGIOUS STUDIES CENTER
BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY

PROVO, UTAH

VOLUME 16 NUMBER 3

ISSN 1536-4720

© 2015 by Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. All rights reserved.
Printed in the USA on acid-free paper.

On the cover:

Sunlight streams into Bryce Canyon.

PHOTO BY WIL STEWART

EDITOR'S NOTE

Doctrinal Gems

Following our past tradition with the Religious Educator, this volume includes several essays written for and by Seminaries and Institutes faculty. In addition to those published by our colleagues at Seminaries and Institutes, there are several gems that will provide new insights into important historical events. Anthony Sweat's article, "The Role of Art in Teaching Latter-day Saint History and Doctrine," arose from work that was done in connection with our recent book From Darkness unto Light: Joseph Smith's Translation and Publication of the Book of Mormon (RSC and Deseret Book, 2015). The article offers fresh insights into the interplay of religious art and the teaching of Church history. Another important contribution in this issue of the journal is the article written by Sharon Black, Brad Wilcox, and Spencer Olsen, "Preparation for a Classic Sermon: President Benson's Study Materials for 'Beware of Pride.'" This article presents a study drawing upon the archival materials that were used by President Ezra Taft Benson as he prepared for his influential talk on pride. I was particularly interested to learn of the diverse materials that he drew upon as he wrote that talk.

As with past issues of the Religious Educator, I have enjoyed working closely with the authors and helping them express their important research in ways that will touch lives and shape understanding. I think this issue achieves that, and there is something in this issue for nearly everyone. I hope you will enjoy reading it as much as I have enjoyed shaping it.

Thomas A. Wayment
Editor

Contents

Religious Educator

VOLUME 16 NUMBER 3 · 2015

1	Let Your Light Shine ELDER ROBERT C. GAY	103	Teaching for Conversion: Recent Refinements in Teaching and Learning ADAM N. SMITH
11	“Lift Where You Stand”: A Conversation with Elder Paul V. Johnson INTERVIEW BY BARBARA MORGAN	131	Using Elements of Narrative to Engage Students STEPHAN TAEGER
27	BYU–Hawaii: A Conversation with Steven C. Wheelwright INTERVIEW BY FRED E. WOODS	143	The Allegory of the Olive Tree: An Instructional Model for Leaders JOSÉ BAMIO
41	The Role of Art in Teaching LDS History and Doctrine ANTHONY SWEAT	159	“Beware of Pride”: Prophetic Preparation for a Classic Address SHARON BLACK, BRAD WILCOX, AND SPENCER OLSEN
59	Communicating with Parents in Today’s Digital World PO NIEN (FELIPE) CHOU	185	Human Anatomy in the LDS Standard Works HEATHER M. SEFEROVICH
77	Understanding and Teaching Correct Doctrine Correctly J. JARLATH BROPHY	192	New Publications
		196	Upcoming Events
		197	Staff Spotlights