Editor’s Note
Southeast Asian Identities: The Case of Cambodia
J. Randall Groves

Civilizations: Which Constitutes Africa’s Most Effective Choice?
Tseggai Isaac

Essay: An Observation on the Universal Significance of Western Civilization
Laina Farhat-Holzman

The Paradox of Thinking and the Unthinkable
Walter Benesch

From Globalization Waves to Global Civilization
Andrew Targowski

Karl Renner on Stability, Change, and Service in Entire Legal Systems
Joseph Drew

Book Reviews
Robert D. Kaplan, The Revenge of Geography

Charles Trautmann, India: Brief History of A Civilization

James DeMeo, Saharasia

Peter Benjamin Golden, Central Asia in World History

William F. McCants, Founding Gods, Inventing Nations

Call for Papers

ISCSC
International Society for the Comparative Study of Civilizations
https://ojs.lib.byu.edu/spc/index.php/CCR
This document is protected under copyright laws and international copyright conventions. No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted by any means in any form, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the express prior written permission of the International Society for the Comparative Study of Civilizations. For additional information write to:

The International Society for the Comparative Study of Civilizations
Prof. David J. Rosner
President, ISCSC
Metropolitan College of New York
431 Canal Street, New York, NY 10013

Published by and copyright © 2014 by the International Society for the Comparative Study of Civilizations. All rights reserved. Subscriptions: US $50/year for individuals and $60/year for institutions; add $4 for foreign subscriptions. Cost for a life subscription is $500. A number of back issues are available on request, at $50 each.

Submittals

The Comparative Civilizations Review publishes analytical studies and interpretive essays primarily concerned with (1) the comparison of whole civilizations, (2) the development of theories and methods especially useful in comparative civilization studies, (3) accounts of intercivilizational contacts, and (4) significant issues in the humanities or social sciences studied from a comparative civilizational perspective.

By “a comparative civilizational perspective” we mean (1) the use of evidence from more than one civilization (the various national traditions of the modern West being regarded, in this respect, as constituents of a single civilization) and (2) a method likely to throw new light either on the origins, processes, or structures of civilizations or on the problems of interpreting civilizations.

This is a peer-reviewed journal. Please submit your papers in MS Word, Times Roman 12 font, as an email attachment for the reviewer’s consideration. Be sure to include on your paper itself your email address and your academic affiliation and position, or note that you are an “independent scholar.” Send your paper to Dr. Laina Farhat-Holzman: lfarhat102@aol.com.

ISSN: 0733-4540
ISBN: 978-0-9835126-3-9
Table of Contents

Editor’s Note .................................................................................................................................................. 1

Southeast Asian Identities: the Case of Cambodia
J. Randall Groves ........................................................................................................................................... 9

Civilizations: Which Constitutes Africa’s Most Effective Choice?
Tseggai Isaac .................................................................................................................................................. 26

Essay: An Observation on the Universal Significance of Western Civilization
Laina Farhat-Holzman .................................................................................................................................. 47

The Paradox of Thinking and The Unthinkable
Walter Benesch .............................................................................................................................................. 51

From Globalization Waves to Global Civilization
Andrew Targowski .......................................................................................................................................... 73

Karl Renner on Stability, Change, and Service in Entire Legal Systems
Joseph Drew .................................................................................................................................................... 90

Book Reviews .................................................................................................................................................. 106

Robert D. Kaplan, The Revenge of Geography: What the Map Tells Us About Coming Conflicts and the Battle Against Fate
Reviewed by Laina Farhat-Holzman ........................................................................................................... 106

Charles Trautmann, India: Brief History of A Civilization
Reviewed by John Grayzel ................................................................................................................................ 113

James DeMeo, Saharasia, The 4000 BCE origins of child abuse, sex-repression, warfare and social violence in the deserts of the old world
Reviewed by Laina Farhat-Holzman ........................................................................................................... 116

Peter Benjamin Golden, Central Asia in World History
Reviewed by Connie Lamb .................................................................................................................................. 118

William F. McCants, Founding Gods, Inventing Nations: Conquest and Culture Myth from Antiquity to Islam
Reviewed by Tseggai Isaac .................................................................................................................................. 122

Call for Papers .................................................................................................................................................. 127