Register of the Camp Floyd Field School Records

By

J. Michael Hunter

Contains inventory of 4 boxes of materials from 1982 to 1992, including field school correspondence, field notes, laboratory notes, historical research notes, photos, copy orders, flyers, student information, budgets, artifact records, newspapers articles, journal articles, historical records such as enlistments, deaths, supply inventories.

The Brigham Young University Field School of Archaeology excavated part of Camp Floyd during the 1980s. College credit was offered to both university and high school students for participating in the field work. For a particular term, one credit hour was granted for one day of the week up to six credit hours for working six days a week. Field techniques were taught in a hands-on experience and the experience included lectures on Utah history and environment.

The following list contains the contents of the four boxes organized by box and folder number. The boxes are located in the Camp Floyd State Park Museum at Camp Floyd Stagecoach Inn State Park, 18035 W. 1540 N., Fairfield, UT 84013.
