You, William Lund grant permission to Brigham Young University (BYU) the non-exclusive right to post your item(s) into the University’s institutional repository and allow BYU the right to copy, store, perform, display, reproduce, or distribute the submission worldwide in any format or medium. You represent that the submission is original and that you have the right to grant the rights contained within this license.

If your submitted item(s) was previously published or contains material for which you do not hold copyright, you confirm that (i) you have obtained the necessary permission of the copyright owner or publisher for the rights required by this license, (ii) a copy of such permission will be retained in your records, and (iii) such third-party material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text or content of the submission. You also represent that your submission does not, to the best of your knowledge, infringe anyone else's copyright.

If the submission is based upon work that has been sponsored or supported by an agency or organization other than BYU, you represent that you have fulfilled any right of review or other obligations required by any contract or agreement with such agency or organization.

If there are patent implications when publishing new innovations and discoveries, please be advised first, before publishing, to consult with the Technology Transfer Office (2-6266).

BYU will identify your name(s) as the author(s) or owner(s) of the submission, and you will retain all rights to your submission.
