Lists of Selected Full-text Databases by Subscription in East Asian Studies

Compiled and edited by

Vickie Fu Doll, University of Kansas

Wen-ling Liu, Indiana University

Fabiano Rocha, University of Toronto

With the large array of digital products becoming standard research tools and major items on library budgets, in 2002, the CEAL Statistics Committee responded to the new landscape by adding the category of electronic resources to the annual statistics survey. Fifteen years later, in response to the discussion on statistical reporting of e-resources in East Asian languages, the Statistics Committee added databases by subscription in the 2016/2017 CEAL Statistical Survey to facilitate and standardize the statistical reporting of e-book, e-journal, and multi-media databases in East Asian languages and related to East Asian studies.

This supplement is comprised of three database lists: E-Book Database by Subscription (88), E-Journal Database by Subscription (76), and Multi-Media Database by Subscription (9). Each list covers Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Non-CJK databases. In total, 173 databases are included in three lists as of November 2017. Each list consists of the following columns: (1) Title in English, (2) Title in CJK, (3) Romanized, (4) Subtitle/Module, (5) Languages, (6) Sub-series, (7) Publisher, (8) Description/source, (9) Notes, (10) Title counts, and (11) Volume counts. For the convenience of readers in North America, the commonly accepted title of the database usually takes precedence over the database's original name. For example, CHANT is a known abbreviation for Chinese Ancient Texts Database 漢達文庫; therefore, the abbreviated name is listed first, with the English and Chinese titles next to it. The same format is applied to the columns of vendor and publisher.

These lists are a collaborative work by CEAL members who have contributed to the compilation, editing, and review of the content. Among them, Fabiano Rocha (University of Toronto and Chair of the Committee on Japanese Materials) input and reviewed all of the Japanese databases with help from members of the CJM. Susan Xue (UC Berkeley and the Chair of the UC System CJK E-Resources Task Force) had contributed to the review and edit of most of the University of California system Chinese databases. Our thanks also go to the assistance and illuminating ideas of Dr. Peter Zhou (UC Berkeley), Sarah Elman (Columbia University), Dr. Martin Heijdra (Princeton University), Hee-sook Shin (Columbia University), and Hyoungbae Lee (Princeton University). It is worth noting that some large East Asian electronic collections, especially Princeton, Harvard, Columbia, Stanford, and University of Michigan are invaluable for descriptions of databases.

The attached lists are in no way a complete inventory. We hope the databases information may also serve e-resource collection development needs of the East Asian studies librarians. We welcome feedbacks for improvements.
