

2015

Phineas and Ferb: The Klimpaloon Ultimatum

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr>

Part of the Television Commons

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

(2015) "Phineas and Ferb: The Klimpaloon Ultimatum," Children's Book and Media Review. Vol. 36 : Iss. 1 , Article 9.

Available at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol36/iss1/9>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.

TV Show Review

Title: Phineas and Ferb: The Klimpaloon Ultimatum

Main Performers: Vincent Martella, Thomas Brodie-Sangster, Ashley Tisdale

Studio/Network: Disney

Reviewer: Aylea Stephens

Season/Episodes: Season 4, Episode 38

Air Date: July 18, 2014

TV Rating: TV-G

Interest Level: Primary, Intermediate

Rating: Excellent

Review

In "The Klimaloon Ultimatum", Phineas and Ferb have to help the band Love Händel compete in the 24 Hour Danville Music Awards by finding Klimaloon (a magical vintage bathing suit that lives in the Himalayas) because they cannot perform their song about him if Klimaloon is not real. Phineas, Ferb, and their friends go to the Himalayas to find Klimaloon and bring him to the award show, but first they will have to rescue him from someone who wants to use him for business purposes. Meanwhile, Doofenshmirtz wants to turn his brother Roger into a warthog because at one point in Danville history, a warthog was elected as mayor and showed so much nepotism that it became part of the town charter that a warthog was never allowed to be mayor again. Perry is accidentally turned into a warthog and is recruited to play tambourine as part of the Swine Flute band, playing with them instead of thwarting Doofenshmirtz.

As usual in an episode of Phineas and Ferb, there are many running gags, including Perry's way of communicating with Major Monogram (with a yoga matt because it is meditation week at the Agency), the giant floating baby head, and Doofenshmirtz sharing his evil scheme with Perry (a Warthog Spray Inator). There are a few fun differences, too, such as Perry not being able to thwart Doofenshmirtz because he's playing with Swine Flute and then accepting an award as a member of the band. It is as comical as might be expected from the show, with some highlights such as a repeated mention of how things are convenient for the characters but they don't have time to explain and Buford lecturing the others about the need to use less negativity. This episode is sure to please any fans of the show.