The Night before My Baptism

I pull the sheets away from the pillows, turn down the bed lamp, the blinds, as a thick clattering rain pours from the mountains and leaves its throbbing on my roof. Thunder swells in the valley, lightning throws the black pulse from my room, a rocket flash. I think how each drop might scatter the loose tiles above me, rinsing the gutters. Mulch, berries, and dead mice rattle eaves before they fall to the ground.

The bed shakes me, the chatter turns to rumble but I slender in, grind down, and believe.
