Louis and his sister Sarah are walking and playing in the woods one day when a monster comes out from the shadows and swallows Louis whole. His sister Sarah then follows the monster to save her brother, but the monster gets eaten and then that monster gets eaten and then that monster gets eaten and so on. Sarah has quite the adventure chasing one monster after another in order to save her brother Louis.

Young minds will be enthralled by the adventure that takes place on the day Louis got eaten. The story grows and develops one monster at a time and only continues to be more daring and entertaining. Parents will enjoy reading this story to their children, and teachers can use this story to entertain their students as a reward or just for plain old fun.
