Review

In this book of discovery, children have a challenge on every page. Each page has a rhyme and a task, such as finding the two cats who match out of an entire page of cats. Great for learning and inquisitive minds, this spotting book will keep children and parents quietly entertained.

Although in picture book format, Primary would be the reading and interest level due to the complexity of the task at hand. Adults may even have a difficult time finding the pairs on each page. Children will need to be old enough as well as have big enough attention spans in order to enjoy this book fully.
