

2017

Daytime Nighttime

Liz Kazandzhy

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr>

---

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

Kazandzhy, Liz (2017) "Daytime Nighttime," Children's Book and Media Review: Vol. 38 : Iss. 3 , Article 9.
Available at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol38/iss3/9>

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen\_amatangelo@byu.edu.

Book Review

Title: Daytime Nighttime
Author: William Low
Reviewer: Liz Kazandzhy
Publisher: Henry Holt and Co. (BYR)
Publication Year: 2014
ISBN: 9780805097511
Number of Pages: 36
Interest Level: Toddler
Rating: Outstanding

Review

This delightful book is presented in two parts, each preceded by a question: “What do you see in the daytime?” and “What do you see in the nighttime?” A variety of animals are presented after each question such as butterflies, red-tailed hawks, and puppies in the daytime; and fireflies, owls, and raccoons in the nighttime. Nothing specific is described about these animals, but their names are simply written on the page in large clear letters and accompanied by full-length two-page illustrations.

This book is a wonderful way to introduce children to nature as well as the differences between day and night. The illustrations are unique and spectacular, entertaining the eye with their crisp detail and bright colors. Also, the author has done a fine job of choosing a diverse variety of animals, some perhaps already familiar to young children and others that are less familiar but nonetheless interesting. The organization of the book also makes it fitting to read before bedtime, as it begins with bright daytime pictures and ends with soft, dark nighttime pictures, including “teddy bears” (with an illustration of a sleeping child with a teddy bear) near the very end. Overall, Daytime Nighttime teaches simple concepts in a very effective and enjoyable way.