To Our Readers

BYU Studies publishes scholarship informed by the restored gospel of Jesus Christ. We exist to inspire learning “by study and also by faith” (D&C 88:118) in three primary constituencies:

- Educated nonspecialist readers/subscribers
- Scholars whose work merits publication in a venue committed to both revealed and discovered truth
- Students who gain experiential learning while making vital contributions
In Memoriam: Harry Mason Reid (1939–2021)

Editors’ Introduction
Sharlee Mullins Glenn, Kristine Haglund, Linda Hoffman Kimball, and Susan Elizabeth Howe

ARTICLES

13 Good Government Begins with Self-Government
Melissa Wei-Tsing Inouye

27 Fellow Travelers, Brothers and Sisters, Children of God
Dieter F. Uchtdorf

35 Inequality and Narrative in the Book of Mormon
Robert F. Schwartz

77 From Stumbling Blocks to Stepping Stones:
What America Can Learn from Germany about Reconciliation
Melissa Dalton-Bradford

105 Rise and Run: Latter-day Women and Good Government
Susan R. Madsen

117 Going Forward with Religious Freedom and Nondiscrimination
Dallin H. Oaks

129 Pursuing Mosiah’s and Madison’s Commonsense Principle in Today’s Divided Politics
Keith Allred

145 Women of Faith Speak Up and Speak Out:
The Genesis and Philosophical Underpinnings of Mormon Women for Ethical Government
Sharlee Mullins Glenn
163  Bending the Arc of Politics toward Zion:
Voices from Mormon Women for Ethical Government
Jennifer Walker Thomas and Emma Petty Addams

185  “To Moderate and Unify”:
The Role That Latter-day Saint Citizen-Rhetors Can Play in Healing American Political Discourse
Kristine Hansen

213  “Truth Is the Only Ground”:
How Journalism Contributes to Good Government
Edward L. Carter

233  The Role of the Article III Judge
Thomas B. Griffith

245  “‘Things Which Are Abroad’:
Latter-day Saints and Foreign Affairs
Patrick Moran

ESSAYS

265  “The Least of These”
Tinesha Zandamela

270  On Being a Disciple of Hope
Jessica Robinson Preece

COVER ART

11  Creating “Good Government”
Linda Hoffman Kimball

POETRY

34  The Happiest Day of Your Life
Michael Lavers

76  Moo at the Moon
Susan Elizabeth Howe

144  March Morning, New York City
David Passey
BOOK REVIEWS

275  Proclaim Peace: The Restoration’s Answer to an Age of Conflict
      by Patrick Q. Mason and J. David Pulsipher
      Reviewed by Kristine Haglund

279  The Saints and the State: The Mormon Troubles in Illinois
      by James Simeone
      Reviewed by Brent M. Rogers

283  Stretching the Heavens: The Life of Eugene England and the Crisis of Modern Mormonism by Terryl L. Givens; and Eugene England: A Mormon Liberal by Kristine L. Haglund
      Reviewed by Steven C. Walker
In Memoriam,
Harry Mason Reid (1939–2021)

It is fitting that, in the “good government” issue of BYU Studies Quarterly, we recognize the passing on December 28, 2021, of former Nevada senator and Senate majority leader Harry Mason Reid. Of his thirty-four years in office, Senator Reid served four years as Senate minority leader and eight years as majority leader, achieving the highest rank in the U.S. Congress of any Latter-day Saint. Two presidents of the United States, the Senate majority leader, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives spoke at his funeral. The first speaker, however, was President M. Russell Ballard of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, who called Harry Reid a dear friend, “a man of faith in word and deed,” and a devoted member of the Church whose bishop recommended him as the best minister in the ward.

Although Reid was known as a tenacious and steely fighter in Congress, he demonstrated many of the qualities we discuss in this issue as necessary in citizens and politicians in order for good government to flourish. One of his primary motivations for entering politics was to help the less fortunate improve their lives. He deeply believed that “when ye are in the service of your fellow beings, ye are only in the service of your God” (Mosiah 2:17). Current Senate minority leader Mitch McConnell said, upon his passing, “I never doubted that Harry was always doing what he earnestly, deeply felt was right for Nevada and our country.”

President Joe Biden said, “Harry Reid led by hearing all points of view and finding common ground.” Former President Barack Obama described him as having these qualities: “Pragmatism, adaptability, a premium on getting things done, a lack of pretension, and abiding loyalty,” explaining that while these qualities are “in short supply, . . . they are precisely the qualities our democracy requires.” President Obama also said, “Harry understood that we don’t have to see eye to eye on everything in order to live together, to be decent toward each other.”

Reid’s greatest quality was his love, especially for his wife, Landra, and his children, who always felt that, despite his immense responsibilities, they were his highest priority. We join in celebrating the life of this gifted, committed leader from whom we can learn much about applying the principles of the gospel in serving one’s country.