2018

What the Dinosaurs Did at School

Kristie Hinckley

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation
Available at: https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol39/iss2/112

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.
What the Dinosaurs Did at School

A toy dinosaur collection is loose in the school! They travel from the locker to the art room and the cafeteria, leaving quite a mess in their path. Dinosaurs fighting with chalk erasers, talking louder than a whisper in the library, and squirting friends with a juice box fill the pages of this humorous book. Apparently, dinosaurs never learn because, even when they’re banished to the “drawer of no return,” they still have a dance party!

What the Dinosaurs Did at School is a fun addition to Refe and Susan Tuma’s book titled What the Dinosaurs Did Last Night. It’s full of colorful photographs of toy dinosaurs strategically placed to make kids and adults laugh. Each page spread includes dinosaurs discovering a new room of school unoccupied by young students. The text includes many questions from an unknown narrator who frequently talks to the dinosaurs, similar to the narrator of The Little Mouse, The Red Ripe Strawberry, and the Big Hungry Bear.

Author
Refe and Susan Tuma

Illustrator

Reviewer
Kristie Hinckley

Rating
Outstanding

Level
Primary

Pages
40

Year
2017

Publisher
Little, Brown and Com-

ISBN 9780316552899