

2018

Good Morning, City

Sydnee Burr

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr>

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

Burr, Sydnee (2018) "Good Morning, City," Children's Book and Media Review: Vol. 39 : Iss. 6 , Article 38.
Available at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol39/iss6/38>

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.

Book Review

Good Morning, City

Author

Pat Kiernan

Illustrator

Pascal Campion

Reviewer

Sydnee Burr

Rating

Outstanding

Level

Preschool, Primary

Behind the scenes, work is what makes city life roll on. Good Morning City takes a look at many of the goings on in city life that most people overlook. Long before children wake up, bakeries fire up, newspapers are delivered, garbage men collect trash, and joggers run through the parks, all while the city sleeps. Ferry boats engage their engines, waitresses make coffee, trains screech along, and then finally the sun comes up. The bright light streaming through her window wakes up a little girl, who fetches her baby brother, and then enjoys breakfast with her family while listening to a news anchor who tells her it's going to be a beautiful day!

Good Morning City is a fascinating, eye opening book. Although geared towards Preschool or Primary aged children, even adult readers will expand their views on how many people are involved in their day that they never even think about. Encouraging broadened horizons, and putting thought towards others outside your own home, Kiernan does a beautiful job of celebrating many walks of life and the important work they do to contribute to city life.

Pages

32

Year

2016

Publisher

Farrar, Straus and Giroux

ISBN

9780374303464