Mr. Putter & Tabby Turn the Page

Katherine Martin

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation
Martin, Katherine (2018) "Mr. Putter & Tabby Turn the Page," Children's Book and Media Review: Vol. 39 : Iss. 7 , Article 46.
Available at: https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol39/iss7/46

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.
Mr. Putter and his cat, Tabby, love to read. They read all sorts of books together about cowboys, rabbits, and gardens. When Mr. Putter finds out that their local library is having a Story Time event, he signs up to read a story. Mistakenly, Mr. Putter tells his neighbor Mrs. Teaberry both prepare stories to read to the children, and Mr. Putter realizes that maybe he didn’t make a mistake after all.

The soft watercolor illustrations of Mr. Putter and Tabby Turn the Page add to the story, with nearly every illustration containing more text for a young child to read. The many illustrations and welcoming layout make this book great for a young child who is transitioning to reading chapter books. Another possible use for this book would be as an introduction to the idea of story time or book swaps in a classroom or library.