

2018

Sun

Ashley McKenzie

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr>

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

McKenzie, Ashley (2018) "Sun," Children's Book and Media Review: Vol. 39 : Iss. 8 , Article 66.

Available at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol39/iss8/66>

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.

Book Review

Sun

Author

Sam Usher

Illustrator

Sam Usher

Reviewer

Ashley McKenzie

Rating

Excellent

Level

Preschool, Primary

It's a hot day, but not too hot for an adventure. A boy and his grandfather collect all the necessary items for a picnic and set out on an adventure in the blazing heat. They consult the map and walk and walk until they find the perfect spot. As it turns out, someone else was already there. They have stumbled upon a ship full of pirates. They join the pirates for a picnic and then head home to reflect on the day and hope for more sunny days ahead.

Beautiful, stretching landscapes emanate the scorching heat described in this book. The story is a good reminder that weather does not have to be a deterrent to adventure. Preschool to school-age children will appreciate the need for navigation and provisions that make this excursion seem so important. And the relatable and realistic tale has just enough imagination to become an instant classic on any bookshelf.

Pages

40

Year

2018

Publisher

Templar

ISBN

9780763699499