Book Review

Princesses Make It Now

A busy book fit for a princess, this book contains five princesses to decorate and create. Each princess comes with a little animal friend, and both can be popped out of the board book and placed in the included stands, making them perfect for pretend play after they are completed. The princesses are partially colored, with black-and-white areas left to color in. Stickers in the back of the book allow readers to decorate the princesses with crowns, flowers and jewelry. The finished product is five sweet and customized paper princess dolls.

Is there anything better than a book that allows you to create your very own doll? Each princess has her own unique look, so a variety of hair and skin colors are highlighted. The back of the book contains stickers that are color-coded so you know which set goes to which princess. And each princess seems to have her own personality, as evidenced by her gown and play animal. The dolls show individualism and allow the readers to express themselves as they decorate the dolls however they want. This book would make a wonderful gift or busy activity and is sure to delight any princess-loving child!
