

Fall Animal Fun

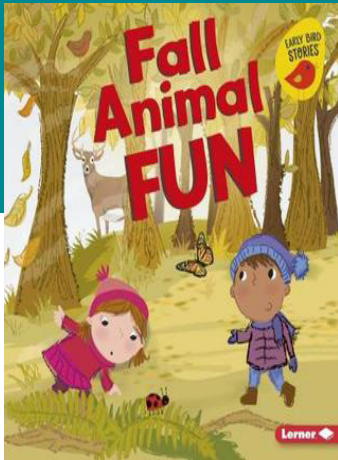

Beverly Jones

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr>

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

Jones, Beverly () "Fall Animal Fun," Children's Book and Media Review: Vol. 40 : Iss. 1 , Article 25.
Available at: <https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol40/iss1/25>

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by the All Journals at BYU ScholarsArchive. It has been accepted for inclusion in Children's Book and Media Review by an authorized editor of BYU ScholarsArchive. For more information, please contact scholarsarchive@byu.edu, ellen_amatangelo@byu.edu.

Book Review

Fall Animal Fun

In the cherished and beautiful season of fall, the leaves are not the only things that are changing. Animals all around the world go through many changes during fall. Some animals travel south to warmer temperatures. Some animals hibernate, and some animals eat an abundance of food to store up for the winter. Nature's creatures living within the vibrant colors of fall make for an amazing autumnal experience.

The delights of fall bounce off the pages of this creatively illustrated book. The information within is an excellent depiction of the changes animals go through during this season. It is a wonderful tool for educators as it includes critical thinking questions and interactive resources. This book and the others in the series would be a welcome addition to any elementary library. Fall is often considered a favorite season, and the reasons why are obvious. This descriptive story highlights just a few of those reasons and the fun of watching animals change in the fall.

Author

Martha E. H. Rustad

Illustrator

Amanda Enright

Reviewer

Beverly Jones

Rating

Excellent

Level

Preschool, Primary

Pages

24

Year

2019

Publisher

Lerner

ISBN

9781541520004