Quaint poems of nature are mixed with cute pictures and detailed instructions of how to fold origami in this short book. Each page includes a poem about something in nature, a picture of that thing, and easy-to-follow instructions on how to create it origami-style. Learn to make your favorite things from nature: a leaf, a fox, a minnow, a shell. Enjoy each poem as you work to create a piece of art that is all your own.

This book is quite simple, but very cute. The instructions for each origami creation are easy to understand and short enough to keep the learner’s attention. The first page of the book includes an explanation of what each fold is and how it will be presented in the book (e.g., an arrow pointing down means to fold the paper down). This book also comes with fifty sheets of origami paper in the back for the learner to experiment with. The designs range from easy to advanced, but none are too difficult. This is a great book for individuals who love nature and want to learn to make their favorite things using origami.
