All moms are amazing, but one little girl's mother is a superhero! She can do so many things all at the same time. She fixes home appliances, cooks pancakes, and brushes her little girl's hair. She also has super-strength. She can carry the girl, her backpack, scooter, and coat while running so fast she nearly flies to the bus stop. Superhero Mom always runs to the rescue when there's a hurt knee or a missing teddy bear.

Superhero Mom is a charming book. The illustrations are reminiscent of classic comic book superhero strips with a feminine twist, including rainbows and stars everywhere. The pictures are bright, colorful and action-packed. The story embraces a realistic view of the hectic nature of motherhood from the view of a daughter who loves and appreciates all of it—except when she has to have tangles brushed from her hair. The book concludes with the declaration that all mothers and all girls are superheroes. This is a vibrant tribute to women everywhere and a wonderful book.
