

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL 10. Top row: Statistical power against overall effect size (amount of variance between null and top model) with an 80% chance of detecting the effect if it is true (Type II error). The aim is to detect a difference with less variance. Bottom row: Statistical power over potential combinations of number of sites and replicate quantities. The green dot indicates the statistical power of the current study design.

