"...In an active, surging world, the strength of one individual is of little consequence until it is linked up with others."

—Camilla Eyring Kimball