Utah Children's Book Award

The Utah Children's Book Award (UCBA) is beginning its eighth year. The Award is sponsored by the Children's Literature Association of Utah and its aim is to foster the interest of children in outstanding literature. The results in 1985-86 were an outstanding success: 11,892 children were involved in the voting. That means that each child read, or heard read aloud, at least three of the books on the list of nominees to be eligible to vote. Many children read every book on the list. The Award is made possible with the help of administrators, librarians, parents, and teachers. If you're considering the program for your school, would like to know how to get it started or need more information about what the requirements are, write to:

Janice Derbyshire
Rose Park Branch Library
1185 West 10th North
