A collection of 110 titles is specially printed with large-character type, bound by thread stitching in traditional style, and enclosed in blue cloth cases. They were made for exclusive distribution to senior high officials in the Chinese government during the Cultural Revolution in early 1970's for their easy reading from nuclear physics and Napoleon to traditional novels and jokes. Only a few remaining copies of each title are now available for overseas distribution at specially reduced price. Their exquisiteness and rarity has made this collection a collector's item.
