Eric D. Gustafson is originally from Palo Alto, California. He graduated from the University of Utah with a BA in philosophy and a BA in political science. Now, as one of the few “Utes” living in Provo, Eric sells commercial real estate and brokers investment properties for CB Richard Ellis. He is trained in hostage negotiations, which he uses often with his wife and three daughters. His interests include studying gospel doctrine, paragliding, and volunteering with the IASK organization, which provides medical and dental care to children in Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Photographer
Richard Crookston grew up in Provo, Utah. He served a mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in British Columbia. He received a bachelor of science in business management and a master of information systems management from Brigham Young University. Richard is the systems administrator for Religious Education. He has contributed articles and photographs to several publications, including Confronting Pornography: A Guide to Prevention and Recovery for Individuals, Loved Ones, and Leaders; BYU Religious Education Review; and The Tabernacle: “An Old and Wonderful Friend.” Richard and his wife, Luna Miota, are the parents of a beautiful baby girl.

Student Editorial Intern
Elizabeth N. Hixson graduated from BYU in April 2008 with an English language major and an editing minor. She will be starting law school this fall, focusing on the area of child advocacy. Elizabeth enjoyed working as the team lead of the editing interns at the RSC, where she edited, indexed, and typeset numerous publications. She loves to spend time with her family and friends. Having lived in several different places, from Oklahoma to Idaho to California, Elizabeth enjoys traveling and expanding her horizons.

Submission Guidelines

The Religious Educator serves the needs and interests of those who study and teach the restored gospel of Jesus Christ on a regular basis. The distinct focuses are on teaching the gospel; publishing studies on scripture, doctrine, and Church history; and sharing outstanding devotional essays. The contributions to each issue are carefully reviewed and edited by experienced teachers, writers, and scholars. The beliefs of the respective authors are their own and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Religious Studies Center, Brigham Young University, or The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Complete author guidelines, including suitable topics, are provided at tre.byu.edu. All manuscripts should be submitted electronically to rsc@byu.edu. Hard-copy submissions are accepted but not encouraged. Send hard-copy submissions to the editorial office at the address listed below.

Manuscripts must be word processed in double-spaced format, including quotations. A minimum of embedded word-processing commands should be used. Authors should follow style conventions of the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition, and the Style Guide for Publications of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 3rd edition, as reflected in a recent issue of the Religious Educator.

Those manuscripts that meet all criteria and appear to fill current needs will be peer reviewed and will receive a friendly, but careful, review. Authors will then be notified of the decision about publication. This process generally takes four to six months, and publication will generally occur within a year after acceptance has been received.

If an article is accepted, authors will be notified and asked to provide photocopies of all source materials cited, arranged in order, numbered to coincide with endnotes, and highlighted to reflect the quotations or paraphrases. Photocopies of source material must include title page and source page with the quotations used highlighted.

Elder Paul V. Johnson

“I know that it is crucial that we keep our lives pure so that we can teach the youth of the Church and they can have the truths of the gospel witnessed to their souls through the power of the Spirit.”
