Beginning at least as early as 1202 with the publication of Ju-hsueh ching-wu, Chinese scholars and publishers have demonstrated a penchant for assembling and editing large collections of independent works. Some of the most notable of these collections, known as ts'ung-shu, appeared during the Ch'ing dynasty, but the practice of gathering and editing such series continues to the present, and is a hallmark of Chinese publishing practices. These collectanea are usually acquired as complete sets rather than as individual titles, and often pose challenges to libraries with many such sets and limited cataloging staff to process them.

Individual titles in these collectanea are under various levels of bibliographic control. Some extremely valuable indexes exist, such as Chung-kuo ts'ung-shu tsung-lu, but they often only tell a user that a specific title is in a collection, which may consist of a thousand or more volumes, and do not usually direct a library patron to the specific volume in question. Some libraries have provided analytical entries in their catalogs for a few of these sets, either with full-level analytics (author, title, and subject access) or some kind of minimal-level entries, but even in the most thoroughly cataloged libraries, there are Chinese collectanea which are either unanalyzed or inadequately analyzed.

The potential problems resulting from inadequate analytical entry of ts'ung-shu in library catalogs are numerous. Many libraries end up unnecessarily purchasing reprints of titles already held in collectanea, because usual pre-order searching procedures have no way to detect them. Librarians are denied valuable management information, because it may be impossible to tell just how many titles are held in one's collection, or which are being heavily used. More importantly, patrons are denied access. Even where indexes are available, they often require specialized knowledge to use, and, as has already been noted, frequently fail to give patrons needed information.

The experience at Indiana University (I.U.) perhaps typifies the modest successes and maddening frustrations inherent in analytical cataloging of ts'ung-shu. One of the most important series, a massive collection of 4,145 titles known as the Pai-pu ts'ung-shu chi-ch'eng, was received in 1979, and minimal-level analysis through OCLC was finally completed in 1987. (Incidentally, St. John's University has since contracted with OCLC for retrospective conversion of this set, through which Indiana's romanized records will be enhanced with vernacular information. This project is scheduled for completion by September 1989.) Professor Lynn Struve of the History Department at Indiana University conducted a study in April 1982, and found that of approximately 27,602 titles contained in 143 ts'ung-shu in I.U.'s collection, 15,741 titles, or well over half, had no analytical entries in the catalog. Most of those which were analyzed had only title entries. Since then, aided partly by internal funding and largely by Professor Struve's active interest, on-line analytical entries have also been created for Ssu-ku ch'uan-shu chen-pen, series 1-4, Ssu-pu ts'ung-k'an, series 1-3, series one of Ts'ung-shu chi-ch'eng, and work is currently underway on the old Shanghai edition of Ssu-pu pei-yao. With the advent of vernacular on-line cataloging (in the case of I.U. somewhat belatedly, with OCLC CJK in 1986), it occurred to some of us here at Indiana that the Herculean task of full analysis of important ts'ung-shu might best be accomplished through a cooperative effort among several institutions, creating a common stock of bibliographic information from which all may draw. In order to gauge interest in such a project, to determine which sets should be analyzed, and to collect information necessary for a grant proposal, a survey was distributed in 1987 to major East Asian collections in North America. Response was far from complete, but the information collected is nevertheless useful. To the many librarians who took time to respond, my apologies for the tardiness of this report.

The ts'ung-shu ranking highest in the survey as needing on-line analytics was Pai-pu ts'ung-shu chi-ch'eng. In second place were various series of Ssu-k'u chi'lan-shu ch'en-pen. Third were the three series of Ssu-pu ts'ung-k'lan, while fourth place was tied by Ssu-pu pei-yao, Ku-chin t'u-shu chi-ch'eng and Chin-tai Chung-kuo shih-liao ts'ung-k'lan. Kuo-hsueh chi-pen ts'ung-shu 400 chung and Tai-wan wen-hsien ts'ung-k'lan tied for fifth place. Even more valuable is information on holdings and level of analysis. The survey provides an overview of some of the work that has been done, and of promising prospects for future projects. As I examined the survey responses and compiled the list which follows, I could not help suspecting that my definitions of "full," "minimal-level," and "brief" had received various interpretations, but with that caveat in mind, the information provides a summary of which sets are commonly held and which have received the most bibliographic attention. Union list symbols (with the exception of the University of British Columbia, represented here by UBC) are followed by a string of characters with the following meanings: e = holds entire set; p = partial holdings; c = off-line cataloging; n = on-line cataloging; f = full-level cataloging; m = minimal-level cataloging; b = brief (i.e. only author or title) cataloging; o = OCLC; r = RLIN; i = in-house system. In the interest of space, and because the aim of this survey was an interinstitutional cooperative project, sets with only one library reporting holdings are not entered here.
