Responses From Readers

In this issue you’ve read about our enthusiasm for informational (nonfiction) books written for children. Now is your chance to tell us what your favorite nonfiction (chapter or picture or both) books are.

We would like to hear from you. This is a page asking for your responses to books. We are encouraging responses from adults, young adults, and children. Duplicate the response page and check the appropriate age group when you send in your reactions. In a later issue your responses will be published.
