Exploring the First Vision
Edited by Samuel Alonzo Dodge and Steven C. Harper

This volume explores some of the seminal articles that examine Joseph Smith’s First Vision, which were written by the foremost experts who have studied it for half a century. This book preserves and shares that work. Those who study the First Vision today depend very much on the works of the scholars that are reprinted in this volume. The book includes articles by and interviews with James B. Allen, Richard L. Anderson, Milton V. Backman Jr., Richard L. Bushman, Steven C. Harper, Dean C. Jessee, Larry C. Porter, and John W. Welch.

Tales from the World Tour: The 1895–1897 Travel Writings of Mormon Historian Andrew Jenson
Edited by Reid L. Neilson and Riley M. Moffat

What was the heritage of Jenson’s expedition to Mormondom abroad? How did his two-year fact-finding mission help shape the balance of his life and the Latter-day Saint historical enterprise? Jenson’s global tour was an unprecedented adventure in Latter-day Saint history. Through his own hard work and the seeming hand of Providence, historian Andrew Jenson found his niche as a laborer in the cause of the Restoration. He pursued the goal of collecting and writing comprehensive, accurate, and useful histories of the Church with a rare passion.

Light and Truth: A Latter-day Saint Guide to World Religions
Roger R. Keller

Do we as Latter-day Saint Christians really need to know about other faiths? Do we not know all we need to know? Sometimes we create our own skewed version of other faiths. If we are to be a world church, it is helpful to understand and appreciate all the good that God has given to persons beyond the Latter-day Saint pale and to represent it accurately. President George Albert Smith said to persons of other faiths: “We have come here as your brethren . . . and to say to you: ‘Keep all the good that you have, and let us bring to you more good, in order that you may be happier and in order that you may be prepared to enter into the presence of our Heavenly Father.’”

Civil War Saints
Edited by Kenneth L. Alford

This book was written for the sesquicentennial of the Civil War, especially the 150th anniversary of the active federal service of Captain Lot Smith’s Utah Cavalry company, an active-duty military unit that served for ninety days of federal service guarding a portion of the Overland Trail. Although Utah Territory was physically removed from the Civil War battlefields and the resulting devastation, the war had a deep impact on the territory and its inhabitants.

You Shall Have My Word: Exploring the Text of the Doctrine and Covenants
Edited by Scott C. Esplin, Richard O. Cowan, and Rachel Cope

The 41st Annual Brigham Young University Sidney B. Sperry Symposium: The Lord declared to the Prophet Joseph Smith, “This generation shall have my word through you.” The Doctrine and Covenants helps fulfill that purpose. Jesus declares of this record, “These words are . . . of me; . . . for it is my voice which speaketh them unto you; for they are given by my Spirit unto you, and by my power.” The Doctrine and Covenants is another witness of Jesus Christ to the children of God in these latter days. It strengthens faith and confidence in the words of the Lord.

A Descriptive Bibliography of the Mormon Church, Vol. 3
Edited by Peter Crawley

This volume continues the bibliography begun in volumes 1 and 2 of the same title. It covers the period 1853–57. The scope of the bibliography remains those books produced by Mormons in support of the Church, where the term book means any printed piece with one or more pages having text bearing on some Church issue. Excluded are individual newspaper or magazine articles, maps, prints, bank notes, and ephemeral pieces such as printed forms or elders’ licenses.

The Earth Shall Teach Thee: The Lifework of an Amateur Artist
Boyd K. Packer

The BYU Religious Studies Center, in cooperation with Deseret Book, has published a book by President Boyd K. Packer featuring a significant number of his paintings, drawings, and wood carvings. Through artwork he has shared the lessons of life with his family and with members of the Church in publications he has illustrated. His paintings and carvings have enhanced his home and have been given as gifts. Creating art has also provided respite from his heavy responsibilities as a Church leader and has enabled his mind to cultivate ideas.

No Weapon Shall Prosper: New Light on Sensitive Issues
Edited by Robert L. Millet

From the time young Joseph Smith Jr. walked out of the grove of trees, opposition to what he had seen and experienced has been constant. We ought to be competent disciples, serious students of the gospel who are able to provide a defense of the faith. As contributors, we are fully persuaded that Mormonism is not only true and faithful but also reasonable. We are committed to our faith and way of life because the Spirit of the living God has borne witness to our souls that what began in Palmyra and now reaches to every corner of the globe is true and is God-ordained and God-inspired. This volume does not address every sensitive issue, but it does provide answers to a reasonable cross section of hard questions.

Notes from an Amateur:
A Disciple’s Life in the Academy
John S. Tanner

The word amateur derives from the Latin for “love.” An amateur is at root a lover—a lover of sport, science, art, and so forth. Tanner explains, “There is much to recommend the professional ethic, including rigor, methodology, high standards of review, and so forth. . . . Yet it is hoped that we also never cease to be amateurs in our professions—that is, passionate devotees of our disciplines.” This book gathers together brief messages entitled “Notes from an Amateur” that were periodically sent to the faculty at Brigham Young University by former academic vice president John S. Tanner. Tanner’s words reflect his years of experience as a scholar, an administrator, and a disciple, addressing with characteristic insight and wisdom an impressive range of topics from the seemingly mundane to the inspiring. This book is enhanced by the evocative art of Brian Kershisnik.

The King James Bible and the Restoration
Edited by Kent P. Jackson

The King James translation of the Bible celebrated its four hundredth anniversary in 2011. This historic text has had a greater impact on the world than any other book in the English language and is still in print today. This book’s primary goal is to shed light on the intersection of the King James translation and Mormonism—hence the title. In important ways, the King James Bible was one of the contributors to the founding of the Latter-day Saint faith, and it has continued to play a significant role in its history to the present time, even in lands where English is not the spoken language.

The Things Which My Father Saw:
Approaches to Lehi’s Dream and Nephi’s Vision
Edited by Daniel L. Belnap, Stanley A. Johnson, Gaye Strathearn

A dark and dreary waste, a man in a shining robe, a rod of iron, and a tree of life—these symbols evoke powerful images in our minds and deepen our appreciation for the Book of Mormon: Another Testament of Jesus Christ. The 2011 Sperry Symposium volume explores the rich symbolism of Lehi’s dream and Nephi’s vision, placing such symbols as the mists of darkness, the great and spacious building, and the church of the Lamb of God in the context of the last days. By introducing new perspectives to a familiar account, this volume offers a stirring reminder of the implications for Latter-day Saints.

Salt Lake City:
The Place Which God Prepared
Edited by Scott C. Esplin and Kenneth L. Alford

For more than 150 years, “Come, Come, Ye Saints” has praised Salt Lake City as “the place which God for us prepared.” This book from Brigham Young University’s Religious Studies Center discusses the fulfillment of that poetic longing. It contains a collection of essays by faculty members in the Department of Church History and Doctrine discussing Salt Lake’s place in our sacred story. Topics include histories of significant landmarks, stories from the city’s past, and discussions of Church organizations. The reader will see connections between the revelations of Joseph Smith and Salt Lake City as a modern city of Zion, the place, indeed, where the Saints have been blessed.

Upcoming Events

For more information about these events, please visit us online at http://rsc.byu.edu/conferences.

The BYU Church History Symposium
The Church History Symposium will be held March 7–8, 2013. The topic will be Joseph Smith and the ancient world. The symposium will be cosponsored by the Church History Library and will be presented at two different venues. One session will be held in the LDS Conference Center in Salt Lake City, and another session will be on BYU campus. Selected papers from each symposium will be published in a book by the BYU Religious Studies Center. Several hundred people attend each year to be enlightened and edified. There is no charge to attend this symposium. For more information, please visit http://rsc.byu.edu/symposia/churchhistory.

The BYU Easter Conference
Scheduled at 7:00 p.m. on March 29, 2013, in the Joseph Smith Building on BYU campus. The BYU Easter Conference is a wonderful event that helps participants better prepare for the Easter season. Presenters will speak about the Savior, his life, his mission, the Atonement, and his influence in our lives today. The conference will feature notable Church leaders, historians, scholars, educators, and authors. The conference also features special instrumental and vocal presentations. This conference is free to attend, and registration is not required. For more information, please visit http://rsc.byu.edu/easterconference.

The Religious Education Student Symposium
The 2013 Student Symposium will be presented on February 15, 2013, in the Wilkinson Student Center on BYU campus from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. The purpose of the symposium is to provide a forum for students to research, write, and present papers about religious subjects from a faithful perspective. Visit http://rsc.byu.edu/symposia/student-symposium.

Staff Spotlight

Editorial Intern
Dana Kendall is a senior from South Gate, California, and is studying Spanish translation with minors in editing and humanities computing. She has worked at the Religious Studies Center since fall 2011 as an editorial intern and has also taken part in the design process, for which she is very grateful. After graduation in April 2013, Dana hopes to move to a place where she can own a horse and start a career in publishing. Her interests include designing for print and the web, playing volleyball, teaching swimming and water polo, shopping at thrift stores, and playing the banjo.

RSC Codirector of Research
David Rolph Seely is a professor in the Department of Ancient Scripture at BYU and codirector of research for the Religious Studies Center. He earned his undergraduate degree from BYU cum laude with high honors in Classical Greek with a Latin minor and an archaeology minor in 1981. He earned a master’s degree in Classics, also from BYU, and earned his doctoral degree in 1990 from the University of Michigan in Near Eastern studies. Dr. Seely has earned many accolades during his tenure as professor, such as the Alcuin Fellowship in 2004 and Honors Co-Professor of the Year with his wife, Jo Ann, in 2006. Early in his career, from 1984 to 1987, he was assistant to David Noel Freedman, the editor of the Anchor Bible Dictionary, and contributed articles in that edition. Dr. Seely has diligently studied many languages in order to enhance his scholarship. These include Italian, French, German, Spanish, Greek, Latin, biblical Hebrew, Ugaritic, Aramaic, and Akkadian. Dr. Seely focuses his research on the Book of Mormon, biblical studies, classical history and languages, and the Dead Sea Scrolls.
Submission Guidelines

The Religious Educator serves the needs and interests of those who study and teach the restored gospel of Jesus Christ on a regular basis. The distinct focuses are on teaching the gospel; publishing studies on scripture, doctrine, and Church history; and sharing outstanding devotional essays. The beliefs of the respective authors do not necessarily reflect the views of the Religious Studies Center, Brigham Young University, or The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Complete author guidelines are provided at rsc.byu.edu/RSCStyleGuide.pdf. All manuscripts should be submitted electronically to rsc@byu.edu. Hand-copy submissions are accepted only if an electronic copy is included.

Manuscripts should be double-spaced, including quotations. Authors should follow style conventions of The Chicago Manual of Style, 16th edition, and the Style Guide for Publications of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 3rd edition, as reflected in a recent issue of the Religious Educator.

Manuscripts will be evaluated by the following questions:

1. Does the manuscript address a clear thesis? Does the argument proceed cautiously and logically? Is the writing clear? Is it engaging and interesting? If not, why?

2. To what degree is the author knowledgeable on the topic as a whole, as shown, for example, by content, phrasing, contextualizing, thorough use of the best sources, and bibliography? Does the author adequately acknowledge and deal with opposing views? If not, why?

3. Does the manuscript present significant new data or new perspectives? What is its main contribution? Will people want to read this ten years from now? Does it make a contribution without resorting to sensationalism or controversy?

4. Does the author follow the canons of responsible scholarship (uses sound and fair methodology; documents arguable facts)? If not, why?

5. Is the manuscript faith-promoting? Is the piece in harmony with the established doctrine of the Church?

If a manuscript is accepted, authors will be notified and asked to provide photocopies of all source materials cited, arranged in order, numbered to match the endnotes, and highlighted to show the quotations or paraphrases. Photocopies of source material must include title page and source page with the highlighted quotations.
