TOO LATE ON MOTHER’S DAY

And so at last she died.
But fought it still for fourteen months
Four hundred days for her to bear
And us to bank against the lonely hours.

I reckon up the debits first:
Four hundred days of drab, explosive pain
Hers from twisted, swollen joints, from migraine hell,
From any bug or enzyme chancing by
Ours from simply looking on.
My God! but pain like that!

The credits won’t add up.
The columns waver, twist, and swell
As though themselves were full of life and pain,
But still they’re long:
Her gentle pain-seared face
An hour or two of simple chat
Some moment-hours of
Son-mother love
A few hour-moments of
Mother-son depth.
Field-fresh iris from Mary and Arch
Or Zinnias or spears of glads or columbine,
Or mums.
She loved beauty so.

More subtly
We felt and feel the bond
Of empathy
We nine to her
But each to other too
A bond of pain—
But pain like that!

*Dr. Clark is professor of English at Brigham Young University.
Our father’s gentleness
Slowborn of pain
Now hedges each of us about
And ties us back to him
To her.

We’re in the black—no question now.
Columns of intangibles more delicate and real
Than all my words—they tilt the balance.
Even the interest we pay on pain—remembered pain—
Has softened into credit now. And dividends of love
Accrue without our even sensing them—
No audit wanted here:
The dividends of love
From life like that
From love like that
Oh God! from pain like that.
IN A WORD
ON EASTER

What's in a name?
In a name
a single word
at once
Annunciation and Beatitude and Benediction

In a name
a single word not a touch
touch me not but infinite Communion

In a name
a single word
at once
Definition and
Summation of her and of Him
at once
Definition and Summation an utterly new and utterly
ineffable
Relation between Him and her
and between
Him and all

"Mary"
TO THE BABY WE DIDN'T EVEN KNOW
WE WEREN'T GOING TO HAVE

You surprised us, like the heavy snow of September,
Neither counted on nor wished for.
Nothing yet to suggest new life or love.
And two years since, we'd thought to make an end.

The pang of loss is ours by right.
That at least her labor should have earned.
But only blood, the flow and clot, we had,
A woman's pain, a husband's helpless scurry.
You couldn't even come clean for us. A surgeon's knife
And scraping, D and C, they called it. And charged as much
As if they'd brought new life.

"Give life," we hear. "In this you act the role of God." It must be true. But such flawed actors
For such a role. Creators ought to start
With perfect image and power perfect, too, to realize
In creature the perfection of themselves.
We didn't even make a start, not with you,
Not with the others.

We count our six and sense the strength.
I guess we feel they're share enough.
But now we'll never know the unknown road
That you have led us down. We'll never know
What new capacities for love or joy or fear
You would have brought. We'll never know
Ourselves, the us that you'd have made of us—for you Could not have dodged the role, no more than we.

In tranquil moments now we think of what we missed.
September snow can never stay; but soft and wet
It softens all the earth, though branches break
And wires snap. The pain soon fades. But you're not here
To take its place. And we can only know the sense
Of what should be the sense of loss, can only know
You're not—and we're the same.
